Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 1, 5, and 7-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 1 and 9 the phrase "such as a zip" is vague and indefinite because it is not clear if applicant intends to positively recite and claim a zip or not.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, 5, 8, and 9 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Rogers (90197).

Rogers shows an article of footwear comprising an upper which is detachable around the periphery (via the ties shown in figure 1) to a sole to form a pocket (A, shown in figure 1) for receiving a removable heatable block (B) which is microwavable (see column 1 third paragraph which describes numerous materials for the block which are known to be microwavable) as claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 7 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either Rogers in view of Owens.

Rogers discloses the claimed invention except for the exact material for the heating pad and the exact method of heating the pad as claimed in claim 10. Owens teaches the use of microwaving as a means for a heating pad for use in footwear (see column 4 lines 20-28). It would have been obvious to use a microwave to heat the pad as taught by Owens in the footwear and method of Rogers to quickly heat the pad. In reference to the specific material for the heating pad, Owens teaches the use of liquid filled microvavable pads for use in footwear and it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use a pad composed of ferrite and silicone (which are known microwavable heating elements), since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 2/15/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. .

In response to applicants' arguments directed towards Rogers, the fact that microwaves were not available as a means for heating the heatable blocks does not negate the fact that the materials listed by Rogers (column 1 third paragraph) are microwavable. Many of the materials listed by Rogers are microwavable and anyone in modern day would use a microwave to heat a microwavable material because it is faster than other known methods of heating.

In response to applicants' arguments directed towards the use of a zip, it is noted that a zip has not been positively recited in the claims and therefore it has not been treated. ("such as a zip" is not a positive recitation)

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
